

Angela Arno

Designer Angela Arno draws on her love of travel, culture, and fashion to inspire her line of hip, handmade jewelry. She has visited and lived in places like Santorini, Lisbon, Belize, and Mallorca to feed her passion for the aesthetic, taking in each place's natural beauty and consuming the local art, architecture, fashion, and design. In 2005, Angela turned her lifelong passion for sparkly, pretty things into Angela Arno Design.

Each piece is crafted by the designer using semi-precious gemstones, Czech fire-polished glass, and unusual materials like lava and bone. Angela Arno's jewelry has been featured on television, and was a gift to all primetime Emmy nominees in 2006. Hallmarks of the line include gemstone hand-finishing at the clasps, delicate chains, elegant draping, careful selection of unusual and high-quality gemstones, and an avant-garde mixture of materials. Angela loves creating each piece, and hopes that you equally enjoy wearing yours!
